SUBJECT: State Employee Furloughs – Impact on Highway Construction Activity

There will six days that state employees will be furloughed this Fiscal Year. These days fall, one each, in September, October, November, March, April, and May. The Transportation Cabinet's approach to this is that those employees directly involved in construction and materials inspection for active highway construction contracts will stagger their furlough days such that active highway construction contractors may continue working without a break or stoppage in their work as a result of these furlough days. This means each District's construction inspectors and materials staffs will work with their respective District's management to schedule the required furlough days so that active construction projects are adequately covered.
